ministerial committee that would coordinate and organize the work of the councils and entities relevant to the issues of women, children and the family.

on the Rights of the Child on the Sale of Children and Their Exploitation in Prostitution and Pornography, and their penal and criminal codes explicitly criminalize trafficking in persons, especially women and children. Moreover, in the context of cooperation among the GCC States in the domain of combating trafficking in women and girls, the Supreme Council of the GCC, in its 27th Session, held in Riyadh in September, 2000, adopted the Abu Dhabi Document of the Standard Regulations (Law) Against trafficking in persons as a guiding law for four years. These Regulations
