

Moreover, the social and political role of women is steadily increasing and becoming more significant, and in order to ensure decent representativeness of women on the decision making level, strong proposals for women candidates are

... have been developed. The ... ..